 - C. The Secretary of Corrections may waive the provisions set forth upon evidence provided completion of a basic law enforcement training program and certify applicants who have been employed as full-time police officers, federal agents and who furnish evidence of satisfactory completion of a basic law enforcement training program which is comparable to or exceeds the standards of the programs of the State Police Academy as determined under NMSA 1978, Section 29-7-10, Certification by waiver and or authorized to carry a firearm under the provisions provided within federal statute 18 USC 926C- Carrying of Concealed Firearm by Qualified Retired Law Enforcement Officers.

- G. Any Department employee commissioned by the Secretary of Corrections to carry a concealed weapon and any Department employee, who is a noncommissioned enforcement officer, must still only exercise his or her law enforcement powers under the following specific circumstances:
 - 1. When, in strict accordance with NMSA 1978, Section 33-1-10 the employee at that particular time has a principal duty to hold in custody or supervise any person accused or convicted of a criminal offense or placed in the legal custody or supervision of the Corrections Department; then that employee has the power to "keep the peace" or act as a peace officer, i.e., make arrests and enforce the laws of New Mexico under the following circumstances: when on the premises of a New Mexico correctional facility; while transporting a person committed to or providing NMCD security related duties or under the supervision of the Department (inmates, parolees and probationers); when supervising any person committed to or under the supervision of the Department (inmates, parolees and probationers) anywhere in the state; or when engaged in any effort to pursue or apprehend any such person.

It is a violation of this Policy and Procedure for any commissioned Department employee to exceed the scope and extent of his law enforcement duties as defined and given to him or her by the appropriate supervisor (as outlined in II.D. above). Any commissioned employee who commits this violation is subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.
- F. Commissioned departmental employees may be allowed to carry concealed weapons while off duty, but only with the express permission of the applicable Division Director.

2. All applicable employees must provide the Secretary of Corrections and the director of the New Mexico Law Enforcement Academy with proof of completion of the in-service law enforcement training requirements no later than March of the year in which the requirements must be met.
 3. Failure to complete the in-service law enforcement training requirements may be grounds for suspension of the employee's certification under the Law Enforcement Training Act, and is grounds for the Secretary of Corrections to terminate that employee's law enforcement commission.
 4. Any employee who fails to complete the in-service requirement and yet continues to carry a concealed weapon is subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal. However, employees may, without being subject to disciplinary action, decide not to complete their in-service requirements or otherwise decide to relinquish their commission as long as they give advance notice to their immediate supervisor and Division Director.
